

An art collection is one of the most personal displays of who you are. Papered Pixels Photography is there to help express appreciation of the world, both the world in our backyard and the world far from our backyard.

Papered Pixels Photography is a distinctive art selection reserved for those who love taking the path less traveled. They travel the world, enjoy adventure, and also value a safe haven they call home.

THE PROCESS

Each photograph is taken by and processed by Meredith B Rendall. The goal is always to create a celebration of life; a photograph that evokes the feelings of the location even the adventure ends.

All photographs are printed on demand. The image is transferred to a professional print lab in Minnesota where it is printed with care on museum archival paper using archival inks.

THE STORY

My mother installed a sense of wanderlust in me that has led me to travels on five continents and countless countries. Combine that with the Kodak film camera my father gave me in 5th grade, and you have the story. A woman who loves to explore with a camera at her side.
